

Menu Close

Memorial Day – Thoughts from Jerry

on May 28, 2018

On Memorial Day, of the course, the flag flies at half mast to remind us to be thankful for our armed forces that paid a price, in some cases, the ultimate price to defend our freedoms. We want to make sure we also thank those among us who have served and are serving now. Shake their hand, give them a hug and even pay for their meal in the restaurant. Our family called my father every Memorial Day to thank him for what he did as a wounded prisoner of World War II. Because of the opportunities that this business provided our family participated in a memorable experience. We took him to where he had been wounded and captured in the Battle of the Bulge. We were also able to take him to the Stalag where he was held and the hospital where German doctors had operated to help him. We were then able to introduce him to a conference where our partners gave him a standing ovation for his service. Our family saw the emotions that appreciation brought to him. It made us realize everyday we see an armed forces man or woman it should be a Memorial Day for them. God Bless them and their families.

CATEGORY: Weekly News

Published by Crown Enterprises

View all posts by Crown Enterprises
(<https://crownenterprises.biz/author/crownenterprise/>).

Leave a comment

Related

Fighting for Our Freedom In "Weekly News"

The Greatest Motivation for Success - Ron Ball In "Weekly News"

Happy Memorial Day. In "Weekly News"

Happy Boxing Day! \(No conference call.\) In "Weekly News"

